Fisher Weddings are pleased to be now able to offer a DIY Wedding Stationery kit. Available in a variety of sizes and designs, this kit is ideal for anyone who would like to create their own wedding stationery but would like someone to give them helping hand in getting started. Or for someone who loves the look of professionally printed stationery but not the price tag!

With 5 different designs to choose from, with traditional and modern options, the stationery collection comes with a variety of matching stationery items from invitations to favour boxes for a co-ordinated and professional look. You can customise the collections even further by buying a main collection and then adding additional packs of items separately so that you have exactly what you need for your wedding.

Each pack also comes with insert papers that are ideal for both inkjet and laser printers and a CD containing templates and wording ideas so that you can easily print your own stylish and professional inserts for invitations, orders of service and menus.

Great as they are or with your own embellishments added, all you need to create your own unique and special stationery range for your wedding is a printer and a little imagination!
